Eliminate Chaos

By Laura Leist (Sasquatch Books, 212 pages, $19.95)

Laura Leist's "Get Organized" columns in seattle@home offer quick ideas for reining in the "stuff" that occupies anyone's living spaces, large or small.

In her new book, "Eliminate Chaos," Leist, a Seattle-area organizing consultant, shares her 10-step process for controlling clutter in every room. She recognizes that most of us have "too much stuff, not enough time."

Leist's book is well organized (of course) in a room- by-room format. You can follow the steps and gain inspiration from several client case studies. You might relate to Ashley, who had to buy things that she knew she already had because she couldn't find anything in an overstuffed closet.

Before, during and after photographs reveal the inside scoop on how to organize.
